It's time for a new plan. Today we face many new challenges: only 63% of our students graduate on time; 45% of our electricity comes from coal; and the gap between the haves and have-nots is growing. But rather than just present a plan for all to follow, we'd like to have a lively discussion with you about it.

The Portland Plan will be our City's strategic plan for the next 25 years.

The strategic plan is really a people's plan, ensuring that Portlanders are prosperous, healthy and educated. In order to tackle our challenges, we need as many Portlanders as possible to help ensure that Portland is a thriving and sustainable city.

Come help define our priorities, guide our investments and set the course for our city. Please join your neighbors and fellow Portlanders at one of the workshops listed above. Or you can answer some questions by mail or online at PDXPlan.com.
